NEW VIEWPOINTS for American History Students

New: AMERICAN ECONOMIC HISTORY: From Abundance to Constraint

JOHN O'SULLIVAN, Florida Atlantic
University, Boca Raton, and
EDWARD F. KEUCHEL, Florida State University, Tallahassee

A thoughtful new analysis of the American economy from colonial times to the industrial present. The emphasis is on developments since 1920 and the effects of political and social changes on economic institutions and policies. Diagrams. Photographs. Index.

December 1980, 320 pp.

HOODED AMERICANISM: The History of the Ku Klux Klan, 2nd Edition

DAVID M. CHALMERS,
University of Florida, Gainesville

Professor Chalmers' book follows the Klan's history through every state in the Union. He describes the social and psychological forces behind the Klan, analyzes its dogmas, identifies friends of the Klan in seats of power, and explains how a Klan "revival" exists today. Bibliography, index.

October 1980, 512 pp.

Recently published: AMERICAN POLITICAL PARTIES

DAVID H. EVERSON,
Sangamon State University, Springfield,
Illinois

Everson's critical examination of our two-party system shows what it is, how it has changed, some of the problems that threaten it, and its prospects for the future. His case study of the energy policy in the Carter administration illustrates recent changes in the party-in-government. Diagrams. Index. 256 pp. (1980)

New: AN END TO HIERARCHY AND COMPETITION: Administration in the Post-Affluent World, 2nd Edition

FREDERICK C. THAYER,
University of Pittsburgh

Hailed with enthusiasm when it was first published in 1973, this book has been thoroughly updated and indexed. An important feature is the new introduction, "Hierarchy and the Human Brain." The author believes that hierarchy and competition must be abandoned, and calls for a radical restructuring of society and government along non-hierarchical lines. Index.

GENERAL INFORMATION

HEADQUARTERS: All sessions will be held in the Sheraton Washington Hotel, 2660 Woodley Road NW at Connecticut Avenue, and the Shoreham Hotel, Connecticut Avenue and Calvert Street NW. The Sheraton will serve as the headquarters hotel. The rear entrance of the Sheraton is across Calvert Street from the Shoreham. Registration, meal ticket sales, information booths and bulletin boards will be located in the lobbies of the two hotels. The headquarters of the Local Arrangements Committee, the AHA staff office and the Press Room will be located in the Idaho and Wisconsin Rooms in the Sheraton. The Job Register is located in Exhibit Hall B adjacent to the book exhibits. In addition to the Sheraton and the Shoreham, blocks of rooms have been reserved at the Washington Hilton and the Normandy Inn. Members who have not reserved hotel accommodation should send their reservation forms (enclosed in the September Newsletter) to the AHA Housing Bureau, 1575 Eye Street NW, Suite 250, Washington, DC 20005.

GROUP FLIGHTS: Arrangements have been made to provide reduced-rate group flights, arriving in Washington DC on December 27 and returning December 30, from Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas/Fort Worth, Dayton, Denver, Detroit, Hartford, Houston, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Minneapolis/St. Paul, Montreal, Oklahoma City, Phoenix, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, and Toronto. The travel agent will form the groups. Early reservations a must.

Information and reservation forms may be obtained from Glen Roc Travel, 194 Scotch Road, Trenton, NJ 08628 (609/883-3353).

AHA REGISTRATION: Members are urged to preregister at the reduced rate of $25 (nonmembers $35, students and unemployed $7.50). A preregistration form is enclosed. Registration at the meeting will be $30 (nonmembers $45, students and unemployed $10). Registration desks at the hotels will be open during the following hours:

|-----------------------|---------------------|
| Saturday, December 27 | 12 noon-9:00 p.m. |
| Sunday, December 28 | 8:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. |
| Monday, December 29 | 8:30 a.m.-4:00 p.m. |

BUSINESS MEETING: Resolutions for the business meeting will be handled as follows: 1) resolutions signed by twenty-five members of the association will be accepted until December 15; 2) resolutions received by November 1 will take precedence and will be published in the December Newsletter; 3) resolutions must be no more than three hundred words in length.

Resolutions should be sent to the executive director at the AHA central office, with one copy to the parliamentarian, Paul K. Conkin, Department of History, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN 37235.

At its meeting on May 15-16, 1980, the Council adopted the following bylaw pursuant to Article VII, Sections 1-4, of the constitution: Bylaw 8(5) There shall be a quorum for the annual Business Meeting of one hundred members in good standing.

VOTING CARDS: Voting cards will be included in the preregistration packet and will also be given out to members registering at the meeting.

LOCATOR FILE: The locator file will be adjacent to the AHA registration desk in the lobby of the Sheraton.

INFORMATION DESKS AND BULLETIN BOARDS: These will be located in the registration areas. Information about the annual meeting, Washington, and the American Historical Association, will be available. The bulletin boards will serve both as informal message centers and as a place to announce special meetings, changes, etc.

JOB REGISTER: The job register, located in Exhibit Hall B at the Sheraton, will be in operation during the following hours:

|-----------------------|---------------------|
| Saturday, December 27 | 2:00 p.m.–6:00 p.m. |

| Monday, December 29 | 9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m. |
| Tuesday, December 30 | 9:00 a.m.–12 noon |

AFFILIATED SOCIETIES: A section of the registration area at the Sheraton has been reserved from 11:30–1:00 p.m. on December 28 for affiliated societies to display materials and to meet with members of the profession.

WOMEN HISTORIANS' CENTER: A room where women historians can gather and all historians may obtain information on women's history groups will be maintained throughout the annual meeting in the Vermont Room at the Sheraton during the following hours:

|-----------------------|----------------------|
| Saturday, December 27 | 7:00 p.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Sunday, December 28 | 9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Monday, December 29 | 9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Tuesday, December 30 | 9:00 a.m.–12 noon |

EXHIBITORS: The exhibits are located in Exhibit Hall A at the Sheraton and will be open during the following hours:

|-----------------------|---------------------|
| Saturday, December 27 | 3:00 p.m.–7:00 p.m. |
| Sunday, December 28 | 9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m. |
| Monday, December 29 | 9:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m. |
| Tuesday, December 30 | 9:00 a.m.–12 noon |

CHILD CARE: A child care center, staffed by competent personnel, will be in operation at the Sheraton in Suite 8201-3. The center will be open for children (through the fifth grade) of registrants at the meeting, at a charge of $1.25 per hour. Hours of the center are:

|-----------------------|----------------------|
| Saturday, December 27 | 5:00 p.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Sunday, December 28 | 9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Monday, December 29 | 9:00 a.m.–10:00 p.m. |
| Tuesday, December 30 | 9:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m. |

To preregister, write to the Local Arrangements Chairman, Richard T. Farrell, Department of History, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742, no later than December 5.

MEAL MEETINGS: All luncheons are scheduled for 12:15 p.m. Tickets for the luncheons (except those sponsored by organizations who sell their own tickets) will be available from the meal ticket cashiers at the AHA registration desks. All payments must be made in U.S. currency, by cash, or traveler's cheque.

After clearance of room allocation with the local arrangements chairman, all other arrangements for meal meetings must be conducted directly between the organization and the hotel. Following are the hotel catering officials:

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, 1979-80

In this my sixth annual report, I will describe significant extension of existing programs and new programs, and report on other developments of interest to members not reported on elsewhere.

PROMOTION OF SCHOLARSHIP

From the time of its founding in 1884, the AHA has had at the center of its purpose and interest the promotion of historical scholarship. Several activities and programs were undertaken during 1979-80 to sustain that purpose and interest.

SCHOLARLY PROGRAMS: PROJECT '87

Periodically, I have reported to you in the Newsletter about Project '87, an interdisciplinary study of the constitution conducted in cooperation with the American Political Science Association. I continue to receive inquiries about Project '87, however, and in response to those inquiries report to you about recent developments in this important program.

The purpose of Project '87 is "to promote a renewed interest in our Constitution and the vast range of social, economic, and political issues that are its companions in two hundred years of constitutional development". It is a ten-year plan to educate Americans of every age about our Constitution and its relevance to their lives and to the third century of America.

Project '87 is conceived in three stages. Stage I is a program of research grants and fellowships designed to deepen and broaden our understanding of our constitutional heritage. Activities include residential research fellowships, major and minor grants-in-aid, conferences and seminars focusing on constitutional history and government. For financial support for this research phase of Project '87 we are indebted to the Bicentennial Council of the Thirteen Original States, the Mellon Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Ford Foundation, and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Stage II of Project '87 is designed to improve the teaching of American constitutional government and history in the nation's junior and senior high schools, in the community colleges, and in adult learning centers. Grants to plan specific programs for Stage II have been received from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation. The membership will be informed of these plans as they are developed.

Many members have been involved in the planning and implementation of Project '87, among them Richard B. Morris, cochairman of the Joint Committee of Project '87, Patricia Bonomi, New York University, Paul Murphy, University of Minnesota, Jim Kettner, University of California, Berkeley, Kermit Hall, Wayne State University, Judge Leon A. Higginbotham, Third Federal District Court, Philadelphia, Harold Hyman, Rice University, and Mary Jo Kline, New York Historical Society.

I would also like to acknowledge the important involvement in Project '87 of James MacGregor Burns of the American Political Science Association, who serves with Richard B. Morris as APSA cochairman of the joint committee, Evron Kirkpatrick, executive director of APSA, and other APSA officers and staff. I have enjoyed working with our colleagues in the APSA, and look forward to continuing good relations as we move forward into Stages II and III.

J. FRANKLIN JAMESON FELLOWSHIP

This fellowship is a joint program with the Library of Congress to support significant scholarly research in the collections of the Library of Congress by young historians. In its fourth year, the fellowship was awarded to Margaret S. Thompson, assistant professor of history, Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois. Professor Thompson will use the resources in the Library of Congress to complete a study of "Congress and Lobbying in the early Gilded Ages."

FIRST BOOKS PROGRAM

Another of the association's programs to assist younger historians further their research careers is the First Books Program. Developed in cooperation with the Association of American University Presses, the program helps young scholars find publishers for their first books.

In 1979, the selection committee, chaired by Felix Gilbert of the Institute for Advanced Study, received twenty-two manuscripts, a much higher number than had been received in the first two years of the program's existence. The committee referred these manuscripts to specialists who appraised them for the committee. The committee recommended two manuscripts to the AAUP for publication without substantial revision. Several other manuscripts were judged to be worthy of publication after revision.

At the outset there was some skepticism about the need for the First Books Program, but the results for 1979 suggest that it does serve a useful purpose and it will be continued.

CONGRESSIONAL FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation has made a grant to the association of $135,000 to be used over a three-year period to support two fellows each year to work on the staffs of congressional committees or individual Representatives and Senators. The program includes a one-month orientation placement period followed by eleven months working as a full-time legislative assistant. The orientation program is administered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The selection committee, consisting of Ernest May, Harvard University (chair), Annette Baxter, Barnard College, Harold Hyman, Rice University, Dewey W. Grantham, Vanderbilt University, and Richard Baker, director, Senate Historical Office, awarded the first two fellowships to Rosalie Schwartz, University of California, Riverside, and Duane Tananbaum, Herbert H. Lehman Papers, Columbia University.

The announcement for next year's competition will be made in the fall, and applications will be received in the Washington office until February 15. Selection of fellows will be made by April 15.

BEVERIDGE FUND RESEARCH GRANTS

A modest program of small grants to members to support their research in American history was recommended by the Research Division and approved by the Council at its May meeting. This program will be supported by income from the Albert J. Beveridge Fund, which for years has also supported an award for the best book in English on American history. Details will be announced later this year in the Newsletter. The Beveridge Award will of course continue.

INTERNATIONAL HISTORICAL ACTIVITIES: XV INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES, BUCHAREST, 1980

Plans for the congress have been completed. U.S. participants have submitted their papers and will present them in Bucharest between August 10-17. U.S. scholarly participation in the congress has been generously supported by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

For the first time the association has prepared two publications for the congress. The first is a volume entitled The Past Before Us: Contemporary Historical Writing in the United States. Organized and edited for the association by Michael Kammen, Cornell University, one of the association's Pulitzer Prize scholars, The Past Before Us also has a "Foreword" by John Hope Franklin, president of the association in 1979, and twenty essays by some of the profession's most distinguished scholars.

Preparation for this volume was made possible by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. The U.S. International Communication Agency has purchased 350 copies of The Past Before Us for distribution at Bucharest during the XV International Congress of Historical Sciences in August 1980.

The second publication prepared for distribution at the congress is Recent United States Scholarship on the History of Women, by Barbara Sicherman, editor, Notable American Women, Radcliffe College, E. William Monter, Northwestern University, Joan Wallach Scott, Brown University, and Kathryn Kish Sklar, UCLA. This essay reviews the important contributions made by historians of women and published during the last fifteen years. It will be distributed at Bucharest along with The Past Before Us.

We are working in other ways to make U.S. scholarly participation in the XV International Congress worthy of the position the U.S. holds in the historical community. For example, I am in contact with the officers in the USICA office in Washington and Bucharest about enhancing the presence of U.S. scholars at the congress, and we hope to have an exhibit at Bucharest of the scholarship of the U.S. participants.

A number of important issues pertaining to the future of the international congress will be decided at Bucharest by the Bureau and the Assembly. Among them are the site of the XVI Congress, the election of a president for the period 1981-85, location of the administrative office, the appointment of a secretary-general to replace Michel François, who is retiring after twenty-five years of distinguished service. The Assembly will also consider the admission of three new members, Comité National des historiens d' Egypte, Comité National d'histoire de la principauté d'Andorre, International Association of Historical Societies for the Study of Jewish History, and a new commission on international historiography.

Robert Forster, Johns Hopkins University, represents the U.S. national committee on the Assembly, and Gordon Craig, Stanford University, serves on the Bureau as first vice-president. David Pinkney, our president, will be present as head of the U.S. national committee.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

In the 1960s and early 1970s the association developed a variety of professional services for its members, the most important being the Employment Information Bulletin, the job register at the annual meeting, several publications, including a Directory of Women Historians, A Survival Manual for Women (and Other) Historians, and appointment of a staff assistant on women's affairs.

In recent years the association has strengthened and expanded its professional services and has allocated an increasingly larger share of its resources to their support.

EMPLOYMENT INFORMATION BULLETIN AND JOB REGISTER

Four primary and four supplemental issues of the EIB were published during 1979-80. While the number of projected issues for 1980-81 will remain at eight, we plan to publish a January supplement in place of the July supplement. Including the announcements posted in the job register at the annual meeting, the EIB listed 734 job vacancy notices during the year: 612 were teaching appointments, 18 were in academic administration and 104 were nonteaching positions, 667 (91%) were for full-time employment while 67 were part-time offerings, and 157 were temporary appointments (3 years or less).

The job register was particularly successful with over 150 positions being advertised and 76 institutions actually sending staff to interview prospective faculty.

PHDs AND THE JOB MARKET

The number of PhD graduates in history continues to decline, from a high of 1213 in 1973 to 829 in 1979. Coupled with a substantial increase in the number of job vacancies announced in the 1979-80 EIB and job register, this decline suggests at least a temporary improvement in positions for new PhDs. The following chart compares new PhDs with job vacancy notices in the EIB and job register. The "excess" column reflects the difference between new PhDs and job vacancies:

| Year ¹ | PhDs | Positions | Excess |
|-------------------|------|-----------|--------|
| 1973-74 | 1213 | 746 | 467 |
| 1974-75 | 1183 | 660 | 523 |
| 1975-76 | 1184 | 711 | 473 |
| 1976-77 | 1093 | 747 | 346 |
| 1977-78 | 961 | 594 | 367 |
| 1978-79 | 853 | 599 | 254 |
| 1979-80 | 829 | 734 | 95 |

¹Number of PhDs awarded is for the previous fiscal year, i.e. those awarded the degree in 1973 will be listed in the job market for the 1973-74 academic year.

GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS OF INTEREST TO HISTORIANS

The 1980-81 edition of the directory of Grants and Fellowships of Interest to Historians was published in June 1980. It includes over 180 entries describing programs for research, teaching and education, as well as an expanded listing of book awards and prizes. As before, the current edition includes programs for study in university centers, federal agencies, state and local organizations, and foreign countries, in addition to opportunities offered by foundations and professional associations. The directory remains the primary source of information about sources of support for historians. The price of the 1980-81 edition is still $3.00 for AHA members and $4.00 for non-members and institutions. AHA Institutional Services Program subscribers receive one copy as part of that service.

SURVEY OF THE HISTORICAL PROFESSION-PHASE I (ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS)

Phase I of the Survey of the Historical Profession was directed toward historians in BA, MA and PhD-granting departments. Four hundred and thirty-four schools, or approximately 35% of the total number of qualifying institutions, responded. A few additional departments responded after the deadline but were not integrated into the data base. The 434 institutions represent 66 PhD departments, 109 Masters programs and 223 BA-granting departments. Twenty-six respondents were unable to locate their degree programs within the BA-MA-PhD structure (most of these were Canadian institutions).

The survey promises to be a valuable source of information about developments in the profession as comparative data become available over the next few years. The 35% response rate compares very favorably to the initial efforts of other associations which have conducted surveys and the total faculty pool in the 434 institutions is 4877, considerably larger than studies in other humanistic disciplines. With the exception of a few questions that deal primarily with women and minority issues, all of the questions received sufficient response to make the results statistically meaningful.

A summary report of the survey results will be available in the summer of 1980. However, specialized reports comparing institutions by size, region, administrative structure, or type of degrees granted, may be even more valuable to the profession, especially to teachers and institutional administrators. The survey is considerably more detailed than any other in the historical profession as such, and offers possibilities for retrieving specialized information concerning history faculty and the teaching of history at the postsecondary level.

SURVEY OF THE HISTORICAL PROFESSION-PHASE II (HISTORIANS IN NONTeaching CAREERS)

Phase II of the Survey of the Historical Profession will be directed toward historians in nonteaching occupations, and will be undertaken with the joint sponsorship of the National Council for Public History. The survey form will be approximately twelve pages in length and should be mailed in late July or August of 1980. The questions are designed to provide complementary data for use in comparing the results of both phases of the survey. Survey forms will be mailed to as many as 8000 prospective respondents with additional mailings as requested by historical organizations or individuals with historical training. A summary report should be available in the winter of 1980-81.

WOMEN'S AND MINORITY AFFAIRS

In August 1980, I appointed Maureen Murphy Nutting as a special staff assistant to the executive director on women's and minority affairs. Since her appointment Maureen has worked primarily to provide staff support for the Committee on Women Historians. This support has included a wide variety of activities, among them preparing materials for CWH meetings, maintaining regular correspondence among CWH members and between the CWH and other professional and special interest groups, updating AHA data on women in the AHA and in the profession, serving as a clearinghouse for information on women in history.

Maureen has devoted much of her time to revisions of the Survival Manual for Women (and Other) Historians, which goes to press as I write this report, and the Directory of Women Historians, which we expect to publish later this year. Another project emanating from the CWH that Maureen has undertaken is that of increasing representation of women historians in the 1983 edition of the Directory of American Scholars: History.

In the short time since her appointment Maureen has formed or reestablished AHA connections with dozens of professional women's networks, including the Federation of Organizations of Professional Women, the White House (President's) Advisory Committee on the Status of Women, the Washington Women's Network and the various women's history groups, particularly those representing minority interests. She also represented women historians and humanists at the January 1980 Ladies' Home Journal AT&T-sponsored conference in New York on Women in the Work Force: Projections for the Eighties, a gathering of 120 representatives of business, industry, organized labor, government, academia and women's groups for the purpose of identifying issues and formulating strategies to assist working women in the next decade.

In addition to her work on and for women historians and women's history, Maureen has worked to promote the interests of minority historians. Her activities in this area have included: disseminating information regarding organizations of minority historians and the history minority roster, apprising minority history groups of the activities and concerns and needs of other minority professional groups, providing information on minority historians to interested agencies, recommending minority historians for appointments to advisory boards (after consulting with AHA/CWH officials), responding to inquiries about black and ethnic history that come into the AHA office. Maureen has worked with two other special interest groups in her position as special assistant—handicapped historians and the Committee on Lesbian and Gay History. In response to their requests she has provided information about AHA policies and procedures, areas of support and assistance, and materials needed to support their special projects.

I believe I speak for AHA members as well as the Washington staff when I say we have all appreciated Maureen's enthusiastic, generous and efficient work on women's and minority affairs, and we have all enjoyed working with her. I regret to report, however, that Maureen will be leaving the association at the end of the year to accompany her husband, a commander in the Coast Guard, to Yorktown, Virginia. In a short time she has made a mark on the association that will remain long after her departure.

APPROACHES TO WOMEN'S HISTORY

In the fall of 1979 the association published Approaches to Women's History: A Resource Book and Teaching Guide, edited by Anne Chapman. This unique curriculum guide grew out of the 1976 Sarah Lawrence Summer Institute on the Integration of Women's History into the High School Curriculum, sponsored jointly by the American Historical Association and Sarah Lawrence College and funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Designed to serve as a daily guide for classroom teachers, Approaches includes 26 document sets of primary and secondary sources, over 200 discussing questions and special activities, and an extensive bibliography of both printed and audiovisual materials. Approaches is available from the Washington office of the AHA at $5.00 per copy. Almost 400 copies have been distributed as of May 31, 1980.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting in New York City was well attended and all reports confirm our impression that the program was enthusiastically received. In addition to approximately 5000 historians from the U.S., over fifty historians from foreign countries attended and most of them participated in scholarly sessions. A grant from the Institute of International Education provided support for ten foreign graduate students studying in the U.S. to attend the meeting. Charlotte Quinn, the new assistant executive director, organized the attendance of students from the advanced placement history class of Scotch Plains Fanwood High School in New Jersey. These students visited several panels on Friday, December 28. I hope we can continue this program of high school students attending our annual meeting.

Planning for our annual meetings begins two years before they take place, and require the organization of over 125 formal scholarly sessions and almost as many other meetings. Arrangements for the annual meetings of several affiliated societies and other groups, management of over a hundred book exhibits, organization of the job register and related activities, preparation of the annual program, and supervision of a thousand-and-one other activities, all require the work of literally hundreds of members. Few of these members receive any material reward for their valuable services; they perform them out of a sense of professional responsibility and a generous spirit. We are deeply grateful to them.

This past year special thanks for extraordinary service go to Martin Ridge and Joseph Harris, cochairmen of the Committee on the Program, to Irwin T. Hyatt, Jr., Emory University, Barbara Jelavich, Indiana University, James McPherson, Princeton University, Robert Middlekauff, University of California, Berkeley, Nora E. Ramirez, San Antonio College, Fritz Ringer, Boston University, Mario Rodriguez, University of Southern California, and Eleanor M. Searle, University of California, Los Angeles; to Eileen Gaylard, my executive assistant, who does the staff work for the committee, edits the program and sees it through the press, and performs many other valuable tasks; to Robert F. Himmelberg, chairman of the Committee on Local Arrangements, and his committee who did a splendid job of allocation of space and handled in an efficient and congenial spirit many last-minute requests for assistance. Special thanks are also owed to the staff in the Washington office, James Leatherwood, the controller, Pete Pietropaoli, Phyllis Coleman, Maureen Murphy Nutting, Cecelia Dadian and Carlton Thomas.

Plans for the 1980 annual meeting, which will be held in Washington, DC, are well advanced. The Program Committee, cochaired by Katherine Fischer Drew, Rice University, and Louis Galambos, Johns Hopkins University, has organized an interesting program which should contribute to good attendance.

In 1981 the annual meeting will be in Los Angeles. Leon Litwack, University of California, Berkeley, has been appointed chairman of the Program Committee. The Council will make a decision about a site for 1982 at its next meeting in December.

MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES

Personnel changes

In March Charlotte Quinn, assistant executive director, was granted a leave of absence because of illness. We are looking forward to her return on September 1.

Judy Mintz, Newsletter editor and advertising manager, left for Boston in May and a position in publishing. A search for her successor is under way, and we expect to make an appointment soon.

The search for a director of the National Coordinating Committee for the Promotion of History, to replace Arnita Jones who left for the National Endowment for the Humanities, has resulted in the appointment of Page Putnam Miller, who will take up her duties on September 1. Information about Page and her activities as director of NCC will appear in the Newsletter. I take this opportunity to thank Arnita Jones for her devoted service as the first director of the NCC and to wish her well in her new position. I am sure that Page will find consultation with Arnita about the NCC useful.

On April 1 I wrote to President David Pinkney that "I wish to retire as executive director of the association, effective June 30, 1981." I noted that I came to the association in 1974 "to implement a new constitution and to deal with the special problems of finance and management the association faced at that time", and I said that now that those problems have been solved a new executive officer should be appointed to deal with the new problems and opportunities the association would face in the 1980s. I told the president that "naturally, I do not wish to be involved in naming a new executive director, but I stand ready to provide the Council with whatever information it may want and to render any other assistance in this matter it thinks would be useful."

At the May meeting of the Council a search committee for a new executive director was appointed consisting of President-elect Bernard Bailyn, Harvard University (chairman), Council members Barbara Miller Lane, Bryn Mawr College and Robert V. Remini, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, and association members Carolyn C. Lougee, Stanford University, and Lawrence W. Towner, The Newberry Library. Further information about the search committee's activities may be obtained from the chairman.

BYLAW FOR A QUORUM AT THE ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

For some time the Council and members of the association have been concerned about the small number of members in attendance at the annual business meeting and that important policy affecting a membership of fifteen thousand was being made by as few as twenty members.

At its May meeting, the Council therefore amended Bylaw 8 by adding paragraph (5): "a quorum for the annual Business Meeting is 100 members."

My annual report again enables me to thank the members of the Washington staff, the AHR editor, associate editor and staff at Indiana University, the Council and committees of the association, and the members for their generous and good-natured assistance throughout the year.

REPORT OF THE EDITOR AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW

During 1979–80 the problem of allocating space in the Review, discussed in last year's report, became critical. For budgetary reasons the journal is limited by the association to 1800 pages yearly (cover to cover). Of that total, the number of pages devoted annually to books reviewed and listed has risen steadily from 619 in 1971 to 1000 in 1979. This growth of more than 61 percent has been partially compensated for by a decline in advertising pages from 395 to 246 pages in the same period, but the brunt of the contraction has been borne by the article section, which attained a peak of 732 pages in 1971, declined to 297 pages in 1975, and recovered to 477 pages in 1979. The book review section has grown because more books are being received and a larger proportion of those received are being reviewed. Of 2107 books received in 1971, 793 (37.6 percent) were reviewed; of 2531 received in 1979, 1287 (50.8 percent) were reviewed. As far as the editors can determine, the growth in the proportion of books reviewed has not stemmed from changing standards governing the decisions of book review editors over a decade but from the increasing importance of the books themselves. This is good news for the profession but creates problems for a publication that has always regarded itself as a "journal of record" where book reviews are concerned.

To avoid exceeding the 1800 page limit and the Review's publishing budget for fiscal 1979–80, the editors were compelled to reduce from four to three the number of articles published in both the February and April issues and either to delay or curtail some reviews in all categories of books. When the necessity of these reductions became evident in August 1979, the editor sent to the executive director of the association a detailed report based on decennial statistics assembled by the staff. In December an article describing the extent of the problem was published in the AHA Newsletter. At the annual meeting in New York in December, the problem was presented to the AHA Council and to the Review's Board of Editors. In April and May 1980 the problem was outlined again at meetings of the Research Division and the Council. The thrust of these presentations was that, if the trend of the last decade continues and if the 1800 page limitation is retained, the editors have no choice but to select for review an ever smaller proportion of the books they receive that are regarded as reviewable. To gain space by reducing further the number of articles normally published (nineteen or twenty annually) or the number of words (450) normally allocated for reviews would change the character of the journal.

In coping with the problems created by the 1800 page limit and the expanding number of reviewable books, the editors are compelled to apply more rigorously guidelines that have long been established. Those guidelines were codified ten years ago by Robert K. Webb (AHR, 75 [1969–70]: 1889–91) after lengthy consultation with the Board of Editors and other members of the profession. They were endorsed and amplified by the incumbent editor in two issues of the AHA Newsletter, vol. 14, no. 9 (December 1976), p. 1, and vol. 17, no. 9 (December 1979), p. 3, and in the editor's annual report of July 10, 1979, published in the Program of the annual meeting for 1979 (pp. 93–96). With each passing year decisions on whether to review or list a book will, if the space problem continues to grow, become progressively more difficult. As Webb wrote in 1970, "The decisive factor will be the editors' judgment as to the usefulness of a book to serious historians."

During the last twelve months the Review received 187 article manuscripts to be considered for publication. Of these, 55 were selected for evaluation by referees outside the staff of the Review, and 20 were accepted for eventual publication. One of the articles published in the February 1978 issue, Stuart B. Schwartz's "Indian Labor and New World Plantations: European Demands and Indian Responses in Northeastern Brazil," was awarded Honorable Mention at the 1979 Conference on Latin American History in the competition for the most distinguished article on any significant aspect of Latin American history appearing in journals published in the United States.

On January 1, two members of the Board of Editors retired: Charles Tilly, University of Michigan, French history, and Reginald Zelnik, University of California, Russian history. At the meeting of the Board in December, the editor expressed the gratitude of the Review for their assistance during the last three years. Their places on the Board have been assumed by Stanley G. Payne, University of Wisconsin, Spanish history, and Sidney Monas, University of Texas, Russian history. During the year several editorial assistants joined the Review. Michelle Mannering and John D. Rusk replaced Daniel F. Harrington and Dale R. Sorenson; all four are in U.S. history. Ann R. Higginbotham replaced Elizabeth A. Williams in Western European history, Catherine Albrecht replaced James P. Krokav in Eastern European history, and Richard C. Sutton replaced Kathleen Prevo in Russian history. All of the departing editorial assistants have completed their PhD's and have assumed new positions except Williams, who has received a dissertation fellowship from the Social Science Research Council to pursue research in France.

At its meeting on May 16, the AHA Council granted the editor a leave for the academic year 1980-81, which enabled him to accept an award from the newly established Stiftung Historisches Kolleg in Munich. During his absence Paul R. Lucas, associate editor of the Review since late 1977, will be acting editor. Lucas is a graduate of Simpson College and the University of Minnesota, where he held Woodrow Wilson and NDEA fellowships. A scholar in the field of U.S. colonial history, he was the recipient in 1977 of a research fellowship from the American Council of Learned Societies. His Valley of Discord: Church and Society along the Connecticut River, 1636-1725 was published in 1976. The manuscript of his American Odyssey is completed. His current research interest is anti-Catholicism in colonial America.

In August James M. Diehl will replace Lucas as associate editor on the Review. A scholar in modern German history, Diehl attained all of his degrees at the University of California at Berkeley, where he received the Advanced Graduate and Chancellor's Traveling Fellowships. In 1970-71 he held the Mabelle McLeod Lewis Memorial Fund Fellowship from Stanford University and in 1978 a research fellowship from the German Academic Exchange Service. Diehl has taught at the University of California at Berkeley and Northwestern University as well as at Indiana University. His Paramilitary Politics in Weimar Germany was published in 1977. His current project is a study of German veterans' organizations and right-wing radicalism in post-World War II Germany.

REPORT OF THE CONTROLLER FOR THE YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1980

The total assets of the American Historical Association on June 30, 1980, amounted to $1,462,414 as compared to $1,372,080 in 1979. This amount is the sum of the three major funds:

- a) General Fund—Cash, temporary and permanent investments (the use of which for the purposes of the association is controlled by a resolution of the Council in 1960 as amended in 1975), $360,428.
- b) Special Funds and Grants—Temporary and permanent investments, restricted as to the use of income and grants, $963,302.
- c) Plant Fund—property and equipment, less depreciation, $138,684.

Permanent investments included in the General Fund and Special Funds and Grants are carried at book value. Land and buildings of the association are carried at cost less depreciation. For further details concerning the aforementioned funds and income and expense statements for fiscal year ending 30 June 1980, your attention is directed to the auditor's report as contained herein. All permanent investments are in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, under the direction of the association's Board of Trustees. The Fiduciary Trust Company's report is filed at the association's office and is available for inspection by interested members.

The budget for 1979-80 as adopted by the Council projected a deficit of $24,800. Total operations for the fiscal year ended with a modest surplus of $10,974. The increases in revenue over the preceding year were attributable to gains on security sales by Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, increases in membership dues income, annual meeting registration fees, and administrative fees. Slight decreases were experienced in subscriptions to the American Historical Review, advertising, and royalties on reprint fees. Total revenue, net of federal income tax liability, exceeded that of the previous year by 8.7%.

Operating expenses amounted to $869,766, a reduction from the projected budget of $905,100 by $35,334 or 3.9%. Reduction of operating expenses to budget occurred principally in the areas of salaries and employee benefits, printing and distribution, audit and miscellaneous items. Operating expenses for 1980 exceed that of 1979 by 5.8%. The increases were on postage, printing and distribution, travel, and related meeting expenses. Cooperation of the staffs in the Washington office and the editorial office at Indiana University enabled us to reduce operating expenses.

Main Hurdman & Cranstoun, certified public accountants' audit report and supplementary information detail are on file and available for inspection at the association's office.

The Council
American Historical Association

We have examined the statement of assets and liabilities arising from cash transactions of the American Historical Association as of June 30, 1980 and 1979, and the related statements of revenue and expenses and changes in fund balances for the years then ended. Our examinations were made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The Association's policy is to prepare its financial statements on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements, except for the recognition of depreciation on the Plant Fund's depreciable assets; consequently, certain revenue and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred. Accordingly, the accompanying financial statements are not intended to present financial position, results of operations and fund balance changes in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, such financial statements present fairly the assets and liabilities arising from cash transactions, and the recognition of depreciation, of the American Historical Association as of June 30, 1980 and 1979, and the revenue collected, expenses paid, and changes in fund balances, on the basis of accounting previously described, which basis has been consistently applied.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1 - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Fund Accounting

The Association records its transactions in three separate, self-balancing funds. Each fund reflects only those transactions applicable to its designated functional area.

|--------------------------|---|
| General Fund | - Reflects transactions related to the general operations of the Association. |
| Special Funds and Grants | - Reflects transactions under various prize funds and special projects that are funded by contributions and grants (which are restricted as to use by the donor) and revenue generated by fund activities and investments. |
| Plant Fund | - Reflects transactions relating to the property, plant and equipment owned by the Association, which is purchased through transfers from the General Fund and charged to operations by that Fund in the year of acquisition. |

Marketable Securities

Permanent investments in the Matteson Account and temporary investments, are carried at cost. Permanent investments in the Regular Account are carried at the participants' cost of participation in such investments.

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are carried at cost, with depreciation being computed on the straight-line method. When assets are disposed of, the cost and related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts, and any remaining net book value is deducted from the Plant Fund balance.

Income Tax

The Association is exempt from Federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Income from publication advertising and mailing list sales is subject to taxation as unrelated business income.

2 - Depreciation

Depreciation on Plant Fund assets, based on the rates shown below, was:

| | 1980 | 1979 | Rates |
|-------------------------|----------------|----------------|--------------|
| Buildings | $ 4,993 | $4,918 | 2-1/2 to 4% |
| Furniture and equipment | 2,417 | 2,535 | 10% |
| | $7,410 | $7,453 | |

3 - Retirement Plan

Eligible employees are covered by a contributory retirement plan which is funded through the purchase of individual annuity contracts from the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association. The Association follows the practice of recording as expense the total premiums paid on such contracts in each fiscal year. The net charges against revenue on account of retirement insurance premiums for the years ended June 30, 1980 and 1979 amounted to $19,844 and $20,909, respectively.

4 - Unrecorded Liabilities

At June 30, 1980, the Association had unrecorded liabilities of approximately $42,000, arising principally from the cost of publishing the June, 1980 issue of the American Historical Review. On a cash basis such amount will be recorded in the period in which the disbursement is actually made.

5 - Transfer for Renovation of Rental Properties

During the year ended June 30, 1980, the Council of the American Historical Association authorized the liquidation of General Fund permanent investments to provide the funds necessary to renovate a rental property adjacent to the Association's headquarters. The amount required ($66,704) is reflected as a transfer from the General Fund to the Plant Fund in the Statement of Changes in Fund Balances.

Our examinations of the basic financial statements presented in the preceding section of this report were made primarily to form an opinion on such financial statements taken as a whole. Supplementary information, contained in the following pages, is not considered essential for the fair presentation of the assets and liabilities or revenue, expenses and changes in fund balances (arising from cash transactions) of the Association. However, the following data were subjected to the audit procedures applied in the examination of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, are fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

America Since 1945, Third Edition

edited by ROBERT D. MARCUS and DAVID BURNER, both of the State University of New York at Stony Brook

Acclaim for the Second Edition:

"This is the best collection of articles on Cold War America I've seen. A provocative combination of primary and secondary material."

—William W. Neer, Kansas State University

"The editors continue their high standards of excellence and have made a judicious choice of recent major sources."

—Thomas M. Campbell, Florida State University

THE ST. MARTIN'S SERIES IN TWENTIETH CENTURY UNITED STATES HISTORY

The Tyranny of Change

America in the Progressive Era, 1900-1917

JOHN WHITECLAY CHAMBERS, II, Barnard College and Columbia University

"Excellent! A compact, factual depiction of a dynamic time in our history. Extremely well-written!"

—James W. Kerley, Norwalk Community College

"This is a very intelligently organized and readably written short volume which should prove useful both in the survey course and in 20th Century U.S. courses."

—Paul L. Murphy, University of Minnesota

1980 280 pp. paperback $5.95

The Great War and the Search for a Modern Order

A History of the American People and Their Institutions, 1917-1933

ELLIS W. HAWLEY, University of Iowa

"Professor Hawley's book is a skillful blend of fact and interpretation, and, unlike other works of this genre, it offers an organizational framework that makes sense of the period. It is also a masterful and unobtrusive synthesis of the most important recent scholarship. The book is tightly organized and gracefully written."

—Donald Winters, Vanderbilt University

1979 264 pp. paperback $5.95

The Great Depression and World War II

Organizing America, 1933-1945

GERALD D. NASH, University of New Mexico

"A good overview of an era. Most books dealing with the 1930's tend to focus on the New Deal exclusively and break off abruptly in 1941. This one lends a sense of continuity to the 1933-1945 period."

—Kathleen Sharp, Duke University

WORKS OF DISTINCTION

RISE TO GLOBALISM: American Foreign Policy 1938-1980

Stephen E. Ambrose

Second Revised Edition. Retaining the sound scholarship, comprehensive coverage, and highly readable style that have made it a standard in its field, Rise to Globalism has now been completely revised and brought up-to-date with the addition of three new chapters: the Mideast, America and Africa, and Carter's foreign policies, as well as maps of Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Africa. A Penguin book.

AGAINST THE CURRENT: Essays in the History of Ideas

Isaiah Berlin

Isaiah Berlin celebrates the most influential and misunderstood thinkers of the Western world—Vico, Machiavelli, Marx, Montesquieu, and other dissenters whose ideas still challenge conventional wisdom. "Lucid, learned... unique because they are the work of both the philosopher's and the historian's art"

—JUDITH N. SHKLAR, Harvard University. A Viking book.

ANCIENT SLAVERY AND MODERN IDEOLOGY

M.I. Finley

The noted historian examines the evidence about slavery in classical Greece and Rome—and how modern thinkers have interpreted it. "No other book on the comparative history of slavery has been able to do what Finley does in this book: put the history of slavery into a reasonable and thoughtful perspective across time as well as culture"—CARL N. DEGLER, Stanford University.

A NERVOUS SPLENDOR: Vienna 1888/1889

Frederic Morton

With great historical insight and sensitivity, Frederic Morton recounts the events that heralded the end of the Western dream in Habsburg Vienna. Replete with lively studies of such luminaries as Crown Prince Rudolf, Sigmund Freud, Gustav Mahler, and Theodor Herzl, A Nervous Splendor provides "a remarkable and unusual slice of history"—ROBERT KIRSCH.

ONE NATION DIVISIBLE: Class, Race, and Ethnicity in the United States Since 1938

Richard Polenberg (Cornell University)

An examination of the last four years of American political, social, economic, and cultural life as seen through the three-way prism of class, race, and ethnicity. "Skillfully crafted... a montage of American society which is as entertaining as it is informative"—ALAN M. KRAUT, American University.

POLITICS AND CULTURE

GORDON A. CRAIG, in the New Republic, writes: "Schorske's investigation takes the form of seven separate studies...Each of these studies can be read separately...Yet they are so artfully designed and integrated that one who reads them in order is impressed by the book's wholeness and the momentum of its argument."

DAVID A. HOLLINGER says: "Not only is it a splendid exploration of several aspects of early modernism in their political context; it is an indicator of how the discipline of intellectual history is currently practiced by its most able and ambitious craftsmen. It is also a moving vindication of historical study itself, in the face of modernism's defiant suggestion that history is obsolete."

The Berlin Secession

Modernism and Its Enemies in Imperial Germany

Peter Paret

Belknap

Drawing extensively on unpublished sources and on striking illustrations, the author traces the clashes between modern art and national policy and between modern and academic art. The Berlin Secession opens new perspectives on the conflict between modernism and the status quo in the empire—a conflict whose implications reach beyond the First World War to a later and still more tragic era of German history.

John Adams & the Diplomacy of the American Revolution

JAMES H. HUTSON. An absorbing analysis of John Adams, haunted by suspicions of both colleagues and adversaries, as he strove to establish the new Republic among the nations of the world. Rejecting the prevailing interpretation of Revolutionary diplomacy, Hutson shows that Adams's basically conservative principles survived his turbulent diplomatic missions with undiminished coherence.

Slave & Freeman The Autobiography of George L. Knox

WILLARD B. GATEWOOD, JR., Editor. George L. Knox survived slavery and service with both Confederate and Union armies before making his way north where he became a leading citizen of Indianapolis and an important figure in the Republican party. An unusual portrait of a black entrepreneur in the period between the Civil War and World War I. Willard Gatewood has provided "a superb introduction—in many ways a model for brief black biography"—Journal of Southern History.

The King's Honor & the King's Cardinal

The War of the Polish Succession,
1733–1735

JOHN L. SUTTON. The War of the Polish Succession engaged many illustrious commanders—Marshal Villars and Prince Eugene, Maurice de Saxe and Count Daun—but behind them stood the mighty figures of Cardinal Fleury and Emperor Charles VI. John L. Sutton brings together evidence from the great diplomatic and military archives of Europe to reveal the essence of eighteenth-century warfare.

Just Published – A Work of Enduring Scholarship:

THE RISE OF ANGLO-GERMAN ANTAGONISM 1860-1914

by Paul M. Kennedy, University of East Anglia, U.K.

Based on ten years of extensive archival research this book reaches far beyond a diplomatic narrative of relations between the two countries. It concerns itself with a thorough comparison of the two societies, their political cultures, economies, party politics, courts, the role of the press and pressure groups, etc., investigating the entire political structure within which diplomacy was conducted. A seminal work, it will be the standard treatise on this important period in history. Cloth $60.00

EARLY MODERN EUROPE TODAY

...new interpretations of history...

Just published in the series:

POPE AND PRINCES 1417-1517

Politics and Polity in the Late Medieval Church

by John A.F. Thomson, University of Glasgow, U.K.

The author shows that the papacy regarded the secular rulers as a less serious threat to its power than its challengers within the Church. It was willing to compromise with the princes in order to strengthen itself against other rivals, but the concessions made by the papacy at this period created the political situation which made possible the divisions of Christendom in the sixteenth century. Cloth $19.50

RADICAL RELIGIOUS MOVEMENTS IN EARLY MODERN EUROPE

by Michael Mullet, University of Lancaster, U.K.

The author expands the concept of Reformation to cover all the movements of religious resurgence in the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Europe. Quakerism occupies much space in the book, in an overwhelmingly sympathetic treatment. Cloth $19.50

Forthcoming:

THE RADICAL ENLIGHTENMENT

Pantheists, Freemasons and Republicans

by Margaret Jacob, Baruch College, New York

The moderate supporters of a constitutional monarchy in the early years of the European Enlightenment were hostile to a radical and republic minority at work in both the U.K. and The Netherlands. These revolutionaries were not only internationally organized, they also had access to the printing press. Cloth (approx.) $19.50

European Empire Building

William B.
Cohen

OUR WORLD has been deeply affected by imperialism, particularly the European expansion of the late nineteenth century, which brought most of Asia and Africa under the white man's rule. Partly as a result of European military supremacy, Western values and institutions were imposed on these societies. In the end the colonies won their independence, but they did so largely by using notions of nationalism and self-determination against the colonizing powers. Even in eclipse, Europe has continued to shape the destiny of former dependencies, through the institutions and values left behind after colonization ended. 96 pages. $3.95

Aleksandra Kollontai

SOCIALISM, FEMINISM, AND THE BOLSHEVIK REVOLUTION. Beatrice Farnsworth. A portrait of one of the most fascinating figures in 20th-century Russian history, centering on her many important political roles and her tireless efforts to create a humane form of communism that would be responsive to the special needs of women. Included is an analysis of Kollontai's writings. Illus. About 480 pp. $28.50

Victorian Women

A DOCUMENTARY ACCOUNT OF WOMEN'S LIVES IN NINETEENTH-CENTURY ENGLAND, FRANCE, AND THE UNITED STATES. Edited by Erna Olafson Hellerstein, Leslie Parker Hume & Karen M. Offen. Over 100 historical documents (many never before published) describe what it was like to be a woman in the Victorian era, and provide an invaluable cross-reference to the female life cycle in three different yet related cultures. About 480 pp. Cloth, about $25.00; paper, about $9.95

Women

FROM THE GREEKS TO THE FRENCH REVOLUTION. Edited by Susan Groag Bell. An anthology of 31 readings from historical literature designed to integrate the history of women in Western civilization into traditional academic courses and particularly into surveys of Western civilization and culture. A Tale of Flowering Fortunes

ANNALS OF JAPANESE ARISTOCRATIC LIFE IN THE HEIAN PERIOD. Translated, with an Introduction and Notes, by William H. & Helen Craig McCullough. The first Western language translation of Eiga monogatari, an 11th-century chronicle of Imperial Court life. One of the most important sources available to social historians of the period, it complements the fictional portrait of the Heian society drawn in The Tale of Genji. Illus. 936 pp. Two volumes. $62.50

The Poetic Memoirs of Lady Daibu

Translated, with an Introduction, by Phillip Tudor Harries. Composed between the late 11th and early 12th centuries, this evocative blend of poetry, prose, and autobiography covers nearly 50 years in the life of a Japanese noblewoman, and includes fascinating glimpses of the Genpei War and intimate views of characters hitherto known only through military tales or historical records. 336 pp. $17.50

Stanford University Press

The Army and Politics in Argentina, 1945–1962

PERÓN TO FRONDISI. Robert A. Potash. Continues the author's detailed examination of the political role of the Argentine military, focusing on how the whole nature of Argentine politics was radically changed by Perón's rise to power. It provides new details on the causes of the military movements that terminated the Perón and Frondizi regimes. Illus. 440 pp. $25.00

A Jesuit Hacienda in Colonial Mexico

SANTA LUCÍA, 1576–1767. Herman W. Konrad. A reconstruction of the nature and operation of one of the largest and most prosperous haciendas in colonial Mexico, showing how the Jesuits built a corporate empire. It examines the inner workings and daily life of the hacienda, and places Santa Lucía and the institution of the hacienda firmly within the larger colonial context. About 472 pp. $28.50

São Paulo in the Brazilian Federation, 1889–1937

Joseph L. Love. The third of three independent but coordinated studies of Brazilian regionalism. São Paulo's story is one of rapid economic expansion in agriculture and manufacturing. Its political leaders—relying on massive exports and foreign borrowing—pioneered in state intervention in the society and the economy, and in the process confused São Paulo's interests with their own. Illus. 420 pp. $25.00

Science in Contemporary China

Edited by Leo A. Orleans, with Caroline Davidson. The first comprehensive survey of Chinese science since 1961—a collection of 28 papers by distinguished American scientists describing the developments of the late 1970's in the natural and social sciences, and in various branches of technology. Nearly all the contributors have recently visited China. About 640 pp. About $35.00

The International Energy Relations of China

Kim Woodard. An exhaustive analysis of all aspects of China's energy system, emphasizing her complex energy relations with other countries. Part I plots the course of Chinese international energy policy from 1949 through the year 2000. Part II provides energy balance statistics in the form of nearly 100 statistical tables that project comprehensive data on each industry to the year 2000. About 752 pp. $50.00

Stanford University Press

Rebels and Revolutionaries in North China, 1845-1945

Elizabeth J. Perry. In an effort to determine why peasants rebel, the author examines three notable rebel movements in Huai-pei—the Nien rebels of the 1850's and 1860's, the Red Spear Society of the Republican era, and the Communist movement of the 1930's and 1940's—seeing rural revolt as a response to ecological conditions. 388 pp. $25.00

The Emergence of Maoism

MAO TSE-TUNG, CH'EN PO-TA, AND THE SEARCH FOR CHINESE THEORY, 1935-1945. Raymond F. Wylie. Investigates the context of Mao's rise to power in the CCP, stressing the influence of Ch'en Po-ta on the development of the political ideology known as "Mao Tse-tung's thought." An epilogue appraises the Mao-Ch'en relationship from 1945 to Ch'en's fall from power in 1970. 368 pp. $25.00

Revolution and Tradition in Tientsin, 1949-1952

Kenneth G. Lieberthal. Tientsin was the first of the major treaty ports to come under Communist rule in 1949, and its mixture of traditional China and the modern West posed significant challenges to the new regime. This study shows how the Communists expanded and consolidated their power in Tientsin, using the experience as a model for handling issues in other cities through the early 1950's. 248 pp. $18.50

Dictionary of Chinese Law and Government

CHINESE-ENGLISH. Philip R. Bilancia. Indispensable to the study of the institutional life of China since 1949. Over 40,000 entries, sub-entries, and examples of usage covering all aspects of legal and administrative terminology, and terms of historical, political, economic, and cultural interest. Sources are largely from the Communist era, but pre-1949 usage is well represented. About 832 pp. About $38.50

RUSSIA'S FAILED REVOLUTIONS

From the Decembrists to the Dissidents

Adam B. Ulam

Why have Russia's many liberal revolutions and reform movements never succeeded? Answering this question, the Harvard historian starts with the aristocrats' abortive coup of 1825. He then takes up various movements that gave birth to the equally unsuccessful populism of the 1860s and the 1870s, the tragic revolutionary dramas of 1905 and 1917, and he concludes with the rebirth of dissent in the Soviet Union today. $18.95

NINTH EDITION

By Edward McNall Burns,
Robert E. Lerner, and Standish Meacham

“It is obvious that those responsible for putting together the Ninth Edition are first and foremost concerned for the student. The volumes are, in a word, attractive. Coupled with the study guide, the package makes the study of history as relevant and exciting as it can be made.”—Frederick Gregory, University of Florida

NEWLY REVISED...the short edition of Harper's million-copy seller—

John A. Garraty

A SHORT HISTORY OF
THE AMERICAN NATION

Third Edition

This edition, an abbreviated version of the author's best-selling The American Nation, Fourth Edition, covers all the major events and personalities in America's history—including the 1980 presidential elections. Nearly 40 percent shorter than the parent text, it follows the same chapter organization but omits certain less significant events, some anecdotal materials, and the full-color portfolios. The third edition features extensive information on economic history... coverage of the feminist movement from colonial times to the present... special attention to the role of minorities... and new maps and photographs—plus annotated bibliographies in every chapter. 576 pages (tentative), paper. 12/80. ISBN 0-06-042271-8. Instructor's Manual.

State University of New York Press is pleased to announce four new series in history

AMERICAN SOCIAL HISTORY

General Editors:

Charles Stephenson, SUNY Brockport

Elizabeth Pleck, Bunting Institute, Radcliffe College

Using a multi-disciplinary approach to the study of American history, the books in this series will survey and analyze American society from the colonial period to the present. Special attention will be focused on immigration, ethnic groups, labor problems, changing class and family structure, population and mobility patterns, and the social impacts of industrialization and urbanization.

INTERDISCIPLINARY PERSPECTIVES IN SOCIAL HISTORY

General Editor:

Harvey J. Graff, University of Texas

There exists a crucial need for classroom materials, syntheses and guides to the field of interdisciplinary social history. This series is designed to meet this need. Organized by theme and topic, each book in this series will offer a critical review of relevant scholarship in its area, a discussion of alternative approaches and modes of analysis, a consideration of theoretical frameworks, examples from empirical studies and a sketch of the emerging synthesis in the field delineated.

MODERN JEWISH HISTORY

General Editor:

Melvin I. Urofsky, Virginia Commonwealth University

This series will devote itself to the social and intellectual history of World Jewry from the eighteenth century to the present. Among the many topics to be explored are: traditional Jewish society in the eighteenth century, the Hassidic revival in Eastern Europe, Haskalah, emancipation, assimilation, anti-Semitism, Zionism, the Jewish experience in North America, the Holocaust, and post-1948 Israel.

EUROPEAN SOCIAL HISTORY

General Editor:

Leo A. Loubère, SUNY Buffalo

Books in this series will combine the best of the new quantitative history with traditional sources in analyzing the social changes and social conditions of Continental Europe since the mid-seventeenth century. Topics will range over the many facets of society: labor and work conditions, peasants and rural life, middle classes, aristocracies, childhood, generational relations, urban growth and its results, feminism and women's movements, disease and medical conditions, the social impacts of science, technology, population change, education, diet, alcohol consumption, leisure, and sport.

All books selected for these four series will be published simultaneously in both hardcover and paperback. This will facilitate course adoptions and guarantee a wider readership.

Those interested in contributing to these series should send their manuscripts, book proposals and requests for additional information to Dr. Robert A. Mandel, Editor, State University of New York Press, State University Plaza, Albany, New York 12246. NOTE: Messages can be left for Dr. Mandel at the American University Press booths (Nos. 22, 23, 24).

The UNITED STATES and IRAN: A Documentary History

Yonah Alexander and Allan Nanes, Editors

This book is the first to document the entire history of the complex and controversial relationship between the United States and Iran. Previously unprinted documents from the National Security Council, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the O.S.S., and the intelligence branches of the State Department, as well as printed sources such as treaties, Presidential papers, and diplomatic correspondence, have been selected by the editors to give detailed coverage of a wide range of pivotal events: the Treaty of Friendship and Commerce of 1856; missions of the pre- and post-World War I era; the Azerbaijan crisis with the Soviet Union in 1946; the Mutual Defense Assistance Agreement (1950); the overthrow of Premier Mosaddeq and the return of the Shah; the Nixon-Kissinger doctrine; increased arms shipments, growing anti-American sentiment, and reports of human rights violations in the 1970s; and the final chain of events which included the overthrow of the Shah, the rise to power of the Ayatollah Khomeini, and the hostage crisis.

Operation ZAPATA: The "Ultrasensitive" Report and Testimony of the Board of Inquiry on the Bay of Pigs

Introduction by LUIS AGUILAR, Professor of History, Georgetown University

"It was not a CIA debacle. It was a government debacle."

—Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Board of Inquiry testimony

Forming a watershed policy statement in the history of U.S. foreign relations, the report and testimony of the Board of Inquiry on the Bay of Pigs invasion offered leading officials the opportunity not only to present the definitive version of the events surrounding the invasion, but also to draw up a comprehensive blueprint for a much intensified Cold War. Rather than reassess and reshape the underlying strategy which had led inexorably to the abject failure of the invasion, the Board of Inquiry (General Maxwell Taylor, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, CIA Director Allen Dulles, and others) insisted that the U.S. redouble its efforts in order to increase covert activities, increase guerrilla warfare, increase military commitments abroad, and increase international tension so that the American people and the entire world would have no doubt of the life-and-death nature of the struggle with Communism. Operation ZAPATA is very sobering reading indeed.

Minutes and Documents of the Cabinet Meetings of President Eisenhower (1953-1961)

The fact that comprehensive minutes and supporting documents of the Cabinet meetings of an American President are at last readily available is exciting news for everyone who is interested in American history and politics. Minutes of the actual meetings, records of Cabinet actions, memoranda for the President, and Cabinet reports are all part of this collection. From domestic politics to international diplomacy, from economic problems to the beginnings of the civil rights movement, this collection lets us witness the highest level of discussion within the Executive Branch. Published here for the first time, this documentary material offers professors and students an entirely new dimension of research possibilities.

Available now. 10 reels microfilm with printed guide. $520.

Minutes of Telephone Conversations of John Foster Dulles and of Christian Herter (1953-1961)

A fierce believer in the need for a strong, firmly directed American foreign policy, John Foster Dulles was a brutally honest—some would say tactless—politician and diplomat, the archetypal “cold warrior”; hence his telephone conversations are doubtlessly among the very best and most interesting sources which will ever be available for the study of the inner workings of the Eisenhower Administration. This collection contains the minutes of nearly all of the telephone conversations of Dulles as Secretary of State, as well as those of his successor, Christian Herter. We can now read the minutes of the conversations of Dulles and Herter with the President, the Vice President, the White House staff, fellow Cabinet members, the State Department staff, members of Congress, and friends both in and out of government. Naturally, the international developments of 1953-1961—Korea, Southeast Asia, the Middle East, the Geneva Conference of 1955, Cuba, the volatile situation vis-à-vis the Soviet Union, and all the others—are discussed at great length.

Available now. 11 reels microfilm with printed guide. $560.

A complete catalog of the twelve currently available titles in this series will be sent upon request.

Among our other research series are Documents of the National Security Council, Records of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Complete Oral Arguments of the Supreme Court of the United States, and many others.

Puritans and Adventurers

Change and Persistence
in Early America

T. H. Breen, Northwestern University. Examining the particular customs and traditions brought over from England by America's earliest settlers, Breen argues that the local origins of these colonists profoundly influenced their attitudes and adaptation to North America. Focusing on Puritan Massachusetts and more freewheeling Virginia, he shows how the differences that distinguished the colonists at the time of settlement persisted long after the founders had passed away. The book includes several prizewinning essays as well as previously unpublished writing

City People

The Rise of Modern City Culture
in Nineteenth-Century America

Gunther Barth, University of California, Berkeley. With pictures, anecdotes, and a wealth of evidence drawn from the records of real people, this engrossing cultural history traces the invention and dissemination of big-city culture in the last century. Paralleling urbanization and modernization in late 19th-century America, he shows how the immigrants and migrants from rural America adapted to city life and how the successful features of that life spread across the country and transformed towns all over America.

Race and Freedom on Virginia's Eastern Shore, 1640-1676

T.H. Breen, Northwestern University, and Stephen Innes, University of Virginia. Revising several popular assumptions about race relations in early America, the authors show how a surprising number of blacks achieved freedom in seventeenth-century Virginia. A full discussion of Virginia's social classes in the generation following colonization focuses special attention on black freedmen, an element of colonial society never before treated in such depth.

Politics and Ideology in the Age of the Civil War

Eric Foner, City College, CCNY. Insisting that politics and ideology must remain at the forefront of any examination of 19th-century America, Foner reasserts the centrality of the Civil War to the people of the period. He integrates the social, political, and intellectual history of the period, and discusses the causes of the sectional conflict, the anti-slavery movement, and land and labor problems during Reconstruction.

Technology and European Imperialism in the Nineteenth Century

DANIEL R. HEADRICK, Roosevelt University, Chicago. Contending that the technological aspect of European imperialism has been largely overlooked by historians, Professor Headrick explores the technological means used by Europeans to penetrate, conquer, develop, and exploit their colonies in Asia and Africa. Topics discussed include the role of steamers and breechloading guns in the British conquest of China and India, the discovery of quinine and the penetration of Africa, and the ways in which developments in communication and transportation both facilitated imperialism and permanently altered the histories of the colonized peoples.

Over Here

The First World War
and American Society

David M. Kennedy, Stanford University. In the first full-scale discussion of the impact of World War I on American society, Kennedy shows how America's reaction to the war reflects important aspects of the American character. Illuminating the nature of progressivism, modern American political theory, Woodrow Wilson's presidential leadership, the distribution of power in society, and post-war disillusionment in politics and imaginative literature, Kennedy also discusses the special implications of the war for intellectuals, blacks, women, and workers.

A Southern Renaissance

The Cultural Awakening of the American South, 1930-1955

Richard H. King, University of the District of Columbia. In this study of the outpouring of fiction, poetry, memoirs, and historical writing that came out of the American South between 1930 and 1955, King shows how such writers as William Faulkner, James Agee, Thomas Wolfe, Cleanth Brooks, and C. Vann Woodward raised Southern tradition to historical awareness. "A book that henceforth every serious student of southern history and southern literature will have to take into account." — The New Republic

350 pp., $15.95

Shrinking History

On Freud & the Failure of Psychohistory

David E. Stannard, University of Hawaii. Drawing upon material from philosophy, anthropology, and experimental psychology as well as history and psychoanalysis, Stannard debunks psychohistory as a mode of historical inquiry. "A good job in demolishing (psychohistory's) pretensions." — Geoffrey Barraclough. "A splendid effort, a challenge the psycho-historians will have to meet or retire blushing." — J. H. Hexter.

Screening Out the Past

The Birth of Mass Culture and the Motion Picture Industry

Lary L. May, University of Minnesota. Featuring period photographs, this book demonstrates how the rise of the motion picture industry both reflected and contributed to the transformation of America from Victorian to modern life. The changes encompassed sexual and class roles, new attitudes toward work and leisure, and much more. May shows how the overlapping of film art and the broader institutions of 20th-century life hold profound implications for the way Americans approach politics, the corporation, and the modern home.

Empire as a Way of Life

An Essay on the Causes and Character of America's Present Predicament, Along with a Few Thoughts About an Alternative

William Appleman Williams, Oregon State University, and president of the Organization of American Historians, 1980-1981. Spanning American history from its origins to the present, Williams shows how our history has been based on continual and unlimited expansion and on seeking imperial domination over internal and external foes. His startling revision of American history reveals how every major action, especially our foreign policy since World War I, must be seen in an imperialistic context.

Class

Image and Reality in Britain, France, and America Since 1930

Arthur Marwick, The Open University, London. Are class distinctions diminishing or disappearing? In this provocative, wide-ranging historical overview Marwick compares American, French, and British society since the Depression and concludes that in all three, class is still an important factor. Showing how class has changed as a result of economic and technological developments and social and political upheavals, Marwick reveals that since 1930, America has become much more like Europe.

Paved with Good Intentions

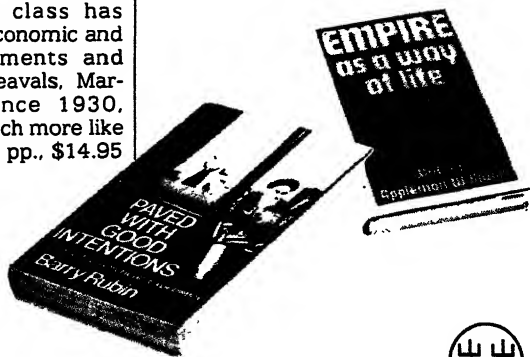

The American Experience and Iran
Barry Rubin, Georgetown University Center for Strategic and International Studies. How did American policy become so tied to the Shah's rule? What role did the U.S. play in the Shah's downfall and in its aftermath? Rubin uses American and Iranian sources, including many previously classified documents, to re-examine fifty years of American-Iranian relations.

320 pp., photos & maps, $15.95

The Odyssey of the American Right

Michael Miles. In a comprehensive discussion of Republican right-wing movements from the Depression up to the present day Miles depicts the ideology, main supporters, and present position of these movements in American politics. Tracing four decades of conservative Republicans, he details the struggle against New Deal interventionism in domestic policy, internationalism in foreign policy, and secular cosmopolitanism in culture.

GROWTH AGAINST DEVELOPMENT

The Economic Impact of Railroads in Porfirian Mexico

John H. Coatsworth

A quantified methodology is used to answer questions relating to the economic impact of railroad building during the Porfiriato. There was dramatic economic growth: savings on freight alone account for more than one third of the increase in productivity. But railroads did not contribute to economic development. Foreigners benefited magnificently; a national elite blossomed. Coatsworth concludes that the economic effect of railroad construction was to place Mexico squarely within the "contradictory process of modern capitalist-dependent underdevelopment."

Little, Brown makes History

...come alive, with

...two superb readers in American social history

THE SOCIAL FABRIC, by John H. Cary and Julius Weinberg

Volume I. American Life from 1607 to the Civil War. Paper/approximately 368 pages/$8.95 tentative

Volume II. American Life from the Civil War to the Present. Paper/approximately 368 pages/$8.95 tentative

This successful two-volume reader has now been published in a Third Edition. Thirteen new selections; six treat topics not covered in prior editions.

AMERICAN REALITIES, by J. William T. Youngs

Volume I. Episodes in American History from the First Settlements to the Civil War. Paper/approximately 320 pages/$8.95 tentative

Volume II. Episodes in American History from Reconstruction to the Present. Paper/approximately 320 pages/$8.95 tentative

The author has written twenty-six lively essays specifically for the undergraduate survey course. These essays treat people — both famous and little-known — as well as key episodes and events. The illustrations are unusually fine.

...and some new additions to the Library of American Biography

ABIGAIL ADAMS: AN AMERICAN WOMAN, by Charles W. Akers

ELIZABETH CADY STANTON: A RADICAL FOR WOMAN'S

RIGHTS, by Lois W. Banner

SLAVE AND CITIZEN: THE LIFE OF FREDERICK DOUGLASS, by Nathan I. Huggins

ANDREW JOHNSON AND THE USES OF CONSTITUTIONAL
POWER, by James E. Sefton

Plus — just published:

HENRY ADAMS AND THE AMERICAN EXPERIMENT,

by David R. Contosta

ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND THE UNION,

by Oscar Handlin and Lilian Handlin

LOUIS D. BRANDEIS AND THE PROGRESSIVE TRADITION,

by Melvin I. Urofsky

JOHN MARSHALL: DEFENDER OF THE CONSTITUTION,

by Francis N. Stites

Each is paperback, approximately 225 pages, and tentatively priced at $4.95.

Plus...

a rich array of American History texts

THE AGES OF WOMAN: FEMALE LIVES IN AMERICAN HISTORY, by Joyce D. Goodfriend and Claudia M. Christie. Paper/approximately 384 pages/$8.95 tentative.

This absorbing text-reader presents personal documents — diaries, journals, letters — of American women of diverse social, ethnic, and racial backgrounds. Spans American history from Colonial times to the present.

LIBERTY'S DAUGHTERS: THE REVOLUTIONARY EXPERIENCE OF AMERICAN WOMAN, 1750-1800, by Mary Beth Norton. Paper/approximately 400 pages/$7.95.

A well-known historian documents the status of women in pre-industrial America.

CONSCIENCE AND CONVENIENCE: THE ASYLUM AND ITS ALTERNATIVES IN PROGRESSIVE AMERICA, by David J. Rothman. Paper/approximately 390 pages/$8.95 tentative.

This sequel to THE DISCOVERY OF THE ASYLUM traces the efforts of Progressive-era reformers to change criminal justice and mental health.

AMERICAN MADE: MEN WHO SHAPED THE AMERICAN ECONOMY, by Harold C. Livesay. Paper/approximately 352 pages/$6.95 tentative.

This highly readable book describes nine Americans who made lasting contributions to America's industrial economy.

THE AMERICAN HOME: ARCHITECTURE AND SOCIETY, 1815-1915, by David P. Handlin. Paper/approximately 544 pages/$7.95 tentative.

A brilliant young architectural historian shows how different types of domestic architecture embodied changing ideas of home life. Illustrated.

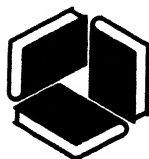

...and a widely used core text

THESE UNITED STATES: THE QUESTIONS OF OUR PAST, by Irwin Unger.

Volume I. To 1877. Paper/494 pages/$11.95

Volume II. Since 1865. Paper/465 pages/$11.95

Single-volume edition. Cloth/933 pages/$17.95

HARCOURT BRACE JOVANOVICH, INC.

New York • San Diego • Chicago • San Francisco • Atlanta

CITY COLLEGE AND THE JEWISH POOR Education in New York, 1880-1924

Sherry Gorelick

It is commonly believed that Jews have owed their upward mobility to their passion for education. Gorelick calls this a myth and examines the much more complex truth. "The book is valuable for its data, its focus and its challenge to conventional unwisdom. Gorelick's approach may well open up new areas of research and lead to the revision of accepted stereotypes and interpretations." —Morris U. Schappes $14.95 March

ADJUSTMENT TO EMPIRE The New England Colonies in the Era of the Glorious Revolution, 1675-1715

Richard R. Johnson

As a key to a better understanding of the great changes which New England experienced during and after the Glorious Revolution of 1688-1689, Johnson focuses on the region's relatively neglected political and institutional history. He shows how the New Englanders learned to work within the structure of royal government and even turn it to their advantage. $26.00 April

WAGES AND HOURS Labor and Reform in Twentieth-Century America

Ronnie Steinberg Ratner

Using innovative quantitative techniques (social indicators), Ratner looks at the development of protective labor laws in this country from 1900 to 1973, investigating how and when government will intervene on behalf of employees. "An overwhelming piece of work, in many ways pathbreaking. . . . You've got a winner here." —Mayer N. Zald $22.00 June

HOMES ON WHEELS

Michael Aaron Rockland

Almost ten million Americans drive recreational vehicles. Rockland covers the entire spectrum of vehicles that serve as homes on wheels and interviews an equally wide spectrum of people who build them, use them for vacations, or live in them all the time. He points out how these vehicles symbolize the conflict in the American character between love for mobility and longing for roots. A captivating book, richly illustrated, and a valuable contribution to any American Studies program. $9.95

THE CAMPAIGN FOR PROHIBITION IN VICTORIAN ENGLAND The United Kingdom Alliance, 1872-1895

A.E. Dingle

The United Kingdom Alliance, dedicated to the legislative suppression of traffic in all liquors, was one of the most powerful reform groups of its day. Dingle's book is a study of party politics, pressure groups, and nineteenth-century attitudes towards intoxicating beverages, and of how a movement based on moral fervor rather than political savvy failed to transform its convictions into law. $21.00

WORK, SOCIETY, AND POLITICS The Culture of the Factory in Later Victorian England

Patrick Joyce

Joyce contends that, under "the rule of the tall chimneys" work, politics, and culture were inseparable. There was often solidarity between masters and men, and politics were local and convivial. "It is original, both in thesis and in the depth of exploration; it challenges recent Marxist and other interpretations of the 'labor aristocracy'." —Anthony S. Wohl $25.00

MARX'S POLITICS Communists and Citizens

Alan Gilbert

Gilbert argues that Marx did not, as traditional economic determinists would have it, develop his theories in isolation from political events and historical circumstances. He shows how Marx constantly re-examined and modified his theories to reflect political lessons learned from his own activities. "Marx the man of action emerges much more coherently and with greater verisimilitude in these pages than anywhere else I have seen." —Mark Poster $19.00

MORAL IDEALISTS, BUREAUCRACY, AND CATHERINE THE GREAT

Walter Gleason

This is a study of Russian monarchy and statecraft in the eighteenth century and of the enlightened commentators who attempted to guide or influence the tsar. Lomonosov and Sumarokov wrote about the ideal ruler, state and society, and ethical obligations; and Bogdanovich, Novikov, and Fonvizin were concerned with broadening the dimensions of social commitment while living in a world hostile to virtue. $21.00 February

THE KING'S STATE Proprietary Dynasticism in Early Modern France

Herbert H. Rowen

In the age of kings, to whom did the state belong, what was the nature of the relationship between monarch and realm, and what was sovereignty? "Rowen makes his point that what has become a sort of dynastic curiosity by our own time was still a living issue of public law and political philosophy as late as the eighteenth century—and had not altogether lost its hold on men's minds even in the first decade of the nineteenth." —Franklin L. Ford $15.00

REFORM IN TSARIST RUSSIA The Case of Local Government, 1900-1914

Neil B. Weissman

By 1900, Russia was too vast to be governed effectively from St. Petersburg. This is a study of the attempts of Pleve, Stolypin, and other bureaucrats to develop local government and to make the tsar responsive to the demands for modernization that came from increasing numbers of the gentry and intelligentsia throughout Russia. $22.50 June

Matthew Lyon: "New Man" of the Democratic Revolution, 1749-1822

Aleine Austin

From the Foreword by Richard B. Morris: "As Dr. Austin persuasively portrays him, Lyon was one of the new breed of upwardly mobile political figures, quick to profit from the expanding economy of the post-Revolutionary and early national years, yet caught up in the challenges of state and nation-building. . . . Lovable or not, Matthew Lyon, a principal victim of the Sedition Act, tenaciously holds his niche in the pantheon of lesser if notable Americans as a courageous upholder of First Amendment values." approx. 226 pp. $14.50 tent.

FIFTY YEAR INDEX

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY HISTORICAL REVIEW

FIFTY YEAR COMPREHENSIVE INDEX
OF

THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY HISTORICAL REVIEW
VOLUME 1 THROUGH VOLUME 50, 1914-1964

The FIFTY YEAR INDEX has been in preparation during the past decade. It consists of approximately 400 pages. The pages carry four columns of text. The size of the index is only slightly larger than the size of the Board of Directors of the American Historical Association, and is highly readable. It has been arranged and styled in a modern, and highly readable, manner. The volume is printed on high quality paper with the binding of the volume.

The FIFTY YEAR INDEX is a reference and research tool that may now be used by the members of the Executive Secretary, Organization of American Historians, 112 North Bryan Street, Bloomington, Indiana 47401.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

Guide to Departments of History 1980-81. Includes listings of close to 350 U.S. and Canadian departments (of which 135 grant the PhD) and twelve research institutions. Price: AHA members $10.00, non-members $12.50.

Survey of the Historical Profession. A major statistical resource permitting virtually limitless capability for referencing variables to meet particular statistical needs. Price: AHA members $5.00, non-members $6.00.

Grants and Fellowships of Interest to Historians 1980-81. Includes more than 178 entries. Funding programs are divided into three categories: support for dissertation and postdoctoral research; support for predissertation study and research; support for organizations working in the field of historical research and education. Price: AHA members $3.00, nonmembers $4.00.

Recent United States Scholarship on the History of Women. Presented at the XV International Congress of Historical Sciences, this work is designed to illuminate the important contributions made by historians of women and published during the last fifteen years. It is also an attempt to assess the direction and achievement of the field. Authors: Barbara Sicherman, E. William Monter, Joan Wallach Scott, Kathryn Kish Sklar. Price: AHA members $3.50, nonmembers $4.50.

A Survival Manual for Women (and Other) Historians. An updated version of a pamphlet that first appeared in 1975. The AHA Committee on Women Historians decided that unwritten rules often lead to inequity and it set out to reveal the most important rules and customs. Price: AHA members $3.00, nonmembers $4.00.

The Past Before Us: Contemporary Historical Writing in the United States. A volume of essays prepared for the AHA on the occasion of the XV International Congress of Historical Sciences. Editor: Michael Kammen; contributors: Karl F. Morrison, William J. Bouwsma, William H. McNeill, Philip D. Curtin, Nikki R. Keddie, John Whitney Hall, Charles Gibson, Peter N. Stearns, Allan G. Bogue, David Brody, Kathleen Neils Conzen, Jay Saunders Redding, Carl N. Degler, Robert Darnton, Charles S. Maier, Herbert T. Hoover, Peter Loewenberg, J. Morgan Kousser, George M. Fredrickson, Hazel Whitman Hertzberg; foreword by John Hope Franklin. Published by Cornell University Press, $19.95.
